CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Global Health Education Day 2020

Wednesday, May 13th, 2020
9:30AM - 5PM
Robert H. Lurie Medical Research Center

Global Health Education Day is an exciting opportunity to draw together global health researchers, educators, and students. Led by the Institute for Global Health's Center for Global Health Education, the day's events will include a poster session, prominent guest speakers, a networking luncheon, and informative workshops.

Internal and external students, faculty, community members and partners from all disciplines across the Chicago-land area are welcome to apply to present posters on projects relevant to global health.

Abstract Submission Deadline
April 1st, 2020, 11:59 pm
globalhealth.northwestern.edu

Those interested in participating in this event must submit an abstract online for consideration.

Please note:
• Abstracts should be no more than 500 words.
• Presenters, or a representative must be available to present at Global Health Education Day Poster Session between 9:30 - 11 am

For more information, please contact the Institute for Global Health office, 312-503-9000 or globalhealthinstitute@northwestern.edu
